Imagine that Jim and Della kept personal diaries. What do you think each of them wrote on Christmas night? Write two entries—one for Jim and one for Della. In each entry describe the day’s surprising turn of events, feelings the character might have had about what happened, and what the character might have learned from the experience. Each entry should be at least ½ of a page.